Features and benefits

- Premium unshaped data

Vox's Fat Pipe data is ideal for home users with large bandwidth requirements and has been designed to maximise your fibre experience on a range of line speeds. Uncapped bundle options allow you to surf, download and stream as much as you like - no more worries about hitting your data cap. Uncapped is also not limited to a fair usage policy on select FTTH networks. On capped bundles all unused data rolls over to a maximum of 6 times the base cap. Top-up bundles are also available.

- Month to month contracts

No long term commitments. Vox offers month to month contract options on all our bundles.

- One invoice

No more multiple bills from providers. Line rental along with the selected bundled services are billed by Vox.

- Extensive coverage

Vox's FTTH footprint expands to most parts of Gauteng, Western Cape, KwaZulu-Natal, Eastern Cape, Northern Cape, Free State and Limpopo. Our multiple partnerships with FTTH infrastructure suppliers coupled with their aggressive rollout plans, ensures continued expansion.

- Unlimited calling

Unlimited calling included in our pro uncapped bundle brings huge savings on the call expenses of the average household. You can save even more by porting your number to Vox and doing away with your traditional telephony connectivity.

- 1 Gigabit-capable

With 1Gbps-capable end points being deployed into each home thanks to the next-generation future proof technology used in FTTH deployments, it allows for seamless scalability of your service to suit your requirements as your connectivity needs grow. (Available line sizes are supplier dependent)

What are you using FTTH for?

* While using Vobi, if you are not connected to a WiFi network, standard mobile network data charges apply.
