but won't break the bank”

WHAT IT INCLUDES

Seamless integration with Vox Voice services and communication manager (TMS)

Verto Supreme and the Vox voice platform deliver the most cost-effective call rates in conjunction with leading IPT technology. The resulting benefit is that in many instances, the call savings offset the cost of the Verto Supreme monthly rental/ fixed costs.

Verto Supreme is supported by the Communications Manager hosted TMS platform, and offers a comprehensive telephony expense management system. This allows for multiple telephony devices to be associated with users, and the creation of multi-level and multi-functional reports.

It also combines with external telephony vendor analysis. This service is delivered via a web interface.

Customer premises equipment and redundancy

Verto Supreme requires no on-site voice gateways for redundancy. As this is a full IP Centrex PBX, failover or redundancy can be provided in the form of a secondary last mile data link, and not to PSTN lines.

Self-service manageability

A site administrator has the ability to apply moves and changes to their site as and when required, which negates the necessity for costly call-out charges. Users have the ability to change telephone behaviour on an ad hoc basis. Such changes will include follow-me, call forwarding, voicemail set-up and retrieval.
